NextService – Field Service Management Built On and For NetSuite

Are field operations core to your company's growth and customer retention strategy? Is your business looking for new ways to improve technician efficiency, track inventory, increase service revenue or gain strategic customer insights?

NextService can help. Our mobile field service management solution can help your company schedule more efficiently, reduce inventory leakage/loss, automate preventive maintenance and warranty processes and understand more about your customers – and their needs.

NextService from Next Technik

NextService is a software solution from Next Technik – an award winning developer of software built on and for the NetSuite platform. NextService's software roots stretch back to their inception as a winner of NetSuite's YOURsuite award in 2013. Today, our solutions are designed to help companies build closer, more profitable relationships with their customers.

Building on the Power of NetSuite

NextService leverages the power of NetSuite to provide a mobile field service management solution that is built on and for NetSuite only. NextService leverages NetSuite's powerful financial, project management and inventory management features – and adds a flexible mobile app (that is operating system agnostic), mobile forms, technician scheduling and dispatch, work order management, customer asset management, automation of preventive maintenance tasks and more.

Features

- Operating system agnostic mobile app (including mobile forms)
- Drag and drop scheduling and dispatch
- Customer asset management
- Preventive maintenance and warranty management automation
- Simply manage field inventory
- Native NetSuite (every feature/function) – no API's, no third party integration

Benefits

- Increase efficiency of expensive technical and operations personnel
- Reduce inventory leakage/loss
- Increase service revenue
- Grow preventive maintenance income
- Gain additional customer insights (profitability, service history, more)
- Eliminate costly and complex third party integrations

The NextService Solution

NextService is a comprehensive mobile field service management solution that has already helped companies in a variety of industries – manufacturing, inspection, energy, telecommunications, wholesale distribution, IT services, commercial HVAC and more – improve their operational efficiency and build customer loyalty.
